Cookies

Cookies are small text files that the sites visited by the user send and record on their computer or mobile device, to be then re-transmitted to the same sites on the next visit.

Thanks to cookies, a site remembers the user's actions and preferences (such as, for example, login data, the chosen language, font size, other display settings, etc.) so that they do not have to be indicated again when the user returns to visit said site or browse from one page to another.

Cookies, therefore, are used to perform computer authentication, session monitoring and storage of information regarding the activities of users who access a site and may also contain a unique identification code that allows you to keep track of the user's navigation within the site itself for statistical or advertising purposes.

While browsing a site, the user can also receive on his computer cookies from sites or web servers other than the one he is visiting (so-called "third party" cookies).

Some operations could not be performed without the use of cookies, which in some cases are therefore technically necessary for the site to function.

There are various types of cookies, depending on their characteristics and functions, and these can remain on the user's computer for different periods of time:

session cookies, which are automatically deleted when the browser is closed;

persistent cookies, which remain on the user's device until a pre-established expiry date.

According to the applicable legislation, the user's express consent is not always required for the use of cookies. In particular, "technical cookies", that is those used for the sole purpose of transmitting a communication over an electronic communications network, or to the extent strictly necessary to provide a service explicitly requested by the user, do not require this consent.

In other words, these are cookies that are essential for the functioning of the site or necessary to perform activities requested by the user, or finally, for aggregate statistical data.

For "profiling cookies", vice versa, that is those aimed at creating profiles relating to the user and used in order to send advertising messages in line with the preferences expressed by the same in the context of surfing the net, prior consent is usually required. of the user, insofar as it depends on the applicable legislation.

Types of cookies used by the Site and the possibility of (de-) selection

This site contains only technical cookies, which are essential for the operation of the site itself or necessary to perform activities requested by the user.

These cookies fall within the category of cookies that can be installed without the user's prior consent; furthermore, it is not recommended to uninstall it in order to avoid malfunctions of the site itself.

For the most popular browsers, the user can find information on how to manage cookies at the following addresses:

Google Chrome, Mozilla Firefox, Apple Safari and Microsoft Internet Explorer.

Notwithstanding the foregoing, the User can use the information provided by EDAA (UE), Network Advertising Initiative (USA) and Digital Advertising Alliance (USA), DAAC (Canada), DDAI (Japan) or other similar services. With these services it is possible to manage the tracking preferences of most advertising tools. The Data Controller therefore advises Users to use these resources in addition to the information provided in this document.
